DAILY SENTINEL.

WM. B. PELL, Proprietor.

From the Richmond Examiner.

THE ALABAMA CASE OF MILITARY TYRANNY.

While the people of the North have been frantic with the excitement of the so called trial at Washington, and the newspapers, North and South, have strained their columns to contain accounts of the pomp, circumstances and schemes connected with this play of political hopes and fears, a tragedy has been performed in our sister State of Alabama far more thrilling in importance to us of the South than all the making or unmaking of Republican Presidents that ever can take place. The event to which we refer has already been mentioned by the telegraph and briefly commented upon by us, but it ought not to pass with such slight notice, because its importance appeals directly to our deepest sympathies, and suggests to the people of Virginia the apprehensions of a common peril. The order of Gen. Meade reciting the "charges" and "specifications" against certain citizens of Greene county, Alabama, lately "tried" by a military commission there, and sentenced to an intolerable punishment in the Dry Tortugas, which we print this morning, gives a full statement of the case. The findings of the commission are approved by Gen. Meade, with some immaterial modifications, and he has ordered the sentence to be executed. The victims have already been torn from their homes and sent to their destination on the coral reefs of Florida. A circuitous route, by way of New Orleans to the Florida reefs, was taken, upon a close calculation, to avoid the interference of any civil process, which might possibly have saved these unhappy victims.

Nothing has occurred in the South since the fall of the Confederacy so deeply painful to the hearts of our people, and it ought to stir the indignation of our fellow Anglo-Saxons at the North, as nothing else has stirred it since the fall of Fort Sumter.

As we read the record contained in the order of the military commander, we instinctively inquire the nature and evidence of the offence which has called down upon these citizens so heavy and harsh a sentence! The offence as charged and attempted to be proven is nothing more grievous than a simple assault and battery, for which any civil court in any of the Northern States would have subjected these persons to nothing more than a trivial fine. But, admitting the charges proven, we find that here, in a military district, these citizens are condemned to a fate most revolting in its remorseless tyranny, and that by such a tribunal as not long since sentenced a Federal officer to confinement a few months in the officers' quarters of a military fort, for shooting to death a weak, unoffending, unarmed and utterly defenceless old man, who was then in his hands a prisoner, bound and brought before him!

The evidence before the commission which condemned these citizens has not been published, but it is publicly known in Alabama that no actual violence was committed by any of these citizens, except one, and that the son of the gentleman whose wood was stolen by the thief who appears as "plaintiff" before the commission. This plaintiff, a person named Hill, was a notorious thief of evil fame and reputation among all his neighbors, a Hunnicutt secessionist before the war, who was expelled from the Masonic fraternity and from the Methodist ministry for infamous conduct.—After the war he had joined the negroes, on a speculation, to build up a Radical party, and his iniquities had made him intolerably offensive to the community at large.—Among his offensive acts was the habit of stealing wood in considerable quantities from the land of Mr. Pettigrew, a respectable gentleman living in the same neighborhood. Having been charged with the theft, he either directly or impliedly confessed it, and gave his note at sixty days in payment for the wood. The payment of this note Hill evaded from time to time, until young Pettigrew met him, on a public day, in the town of Eutaw, and demanded payment, which was again put off. Becoming exasperated, young Pettigrew took a stick out of Hill's hands and struck him a few blows, without inflicting any material bodily injury. Several of young Pettigrew's friends and neighbors warmly sympathized with him in what he had done, and seeing the affray, gathered around him. Some of them proposed to lynch Hill, but the proposition was not adopted, and no such violence was attempted. Whatever may have been the feelings of the persons engaged, or the fears of Hill, it does not appear, and is not contended, that any real bodily harm or injury to person or property whatever was done to Hill.

We might well denounce the atrocious tyranny of General Meade in condemning these citizens to the slow tortue of a servitude likely to end their days, upon a dreary coral reef in the Gulf of Mexico. We might well cry out against such exercise of despotic power, by the sword, in a time of profound peace, and hold General Meade up to the execrations of the civilized world for this exhibition of remorseless cruelty and pitiless wrath; and while lamenting the fate of these victims of tyranny we might well invoke the boundless sympathies of every Southern man, for whom they are enduring, in some sort, a vicarious punishment. Their terrible fate is no doubt intended as a "warning" to other Southern men to restrain their fear and of "disloyalty" and to force them to "fellowship" with the scallawags and negroes. But we draw a deeper lesson from it, more comprehensive than the circumstances of the present moment.

We see in it only an incident of the overthrow of civil liberty and the abrogation of the sacred right wrung from King John at Runnymede and recorded in Magna Charta, which has been handed down to us in the legal form of habeas corpus. In the present wretched condition of "the conquered States," any citizen is liable, at any moment, to be torn from his family, as have been the Alabama victims, and transported "beyond seas," as they have been, upon the false charges of any mean scalawag who nourishes a personal spite and will falsely swear before a military commission. And against this the people of the South have no refuge, except in the discriminating judgment of the Federal soldier who commands the "District." Was ever a despotism more complete! It does not avail to denounce these military commanders, for they are supreme for the time being. The "Chief Executive of the Nation" is so beset that he cannot now interfere, we are told. The Supreme court has not the "backbone" to decide our case, or if these supreme judges have had the nerve to decide, they have not had enough to make their decision available by announcing it. By the hands of a desperate faction the theory and structure of the American Republic have been overthrown, and the very "pillars of the Constitution" undermined.

The events of the day are thundering their lessons into the ears of the American people, and unless they give heed, not only are we of the South undone, but the days of "the Great Republic" are numbered, and the last hope of constitutional liberty has departed. Chaos will overspread the land and the civilization of the Federal Union will sink into Mexican anarchy, or flee, shrieking, into the arms of an imperial dynasty, to escape the intolerable tortures of a Pentarchy over one section, and the terrible rule of a fanatical faction over the other.

The Bankrupt Act.

We have been requested to publish the Bankrupt Law. Also a supposition. It makes a ridiculous volume. In order, however, that our readers may understand it, and may therefore not be subject to be imposed upon by parties, who are themselves to the interests of others, we have taken some pains to compile from several sources the following general principles of the Act, for the benefit of all who contemplate seeking its benefits. But first of all, we advise our friends not to determine hastily what they will do, until they have had the counsel of a respectable and intelligent Attorney, upon whom they can rely.

1. The manifest design of the Bankrupt Law is to benefit honest, but unfortunate, debtors, whose just liabilities are greater than they can pay.

2. An intelligent voluntary Bankrupt under this Act, (the petitioner owes at least $300, which, of course, he is not able to pay in full.

3. Petitioners under the Bankrupt Act are required to render a schedule of all their debts and liabilities, of every kind and description whatever, and also an inventory of all their estate, both real and personal, including all property and effects of which they are possessed, or in which they may have an interest, (though not in possession,) in conformity with certain "Forms prescribed by the General Orders" of the Supreme Court of the United States. These schedules, verified by the oath of the petitioner before a District Court Judge, a register in Bankruptcy, or U. S. Commissioner, must accompany the petition and, when filed, is the commencement of proceedings in bankruptcy. If it should be found out, pending the proceedings at any time before the bankrupt is discharged, that he has, by any craft or subterfuge, made a false or partial schedule, this would be evidence of fraud and would defeat his discharge.

4. When the petition is by a firm or copartnership, a full set of schedules of the respective estates of the members of the firm should also be added.

5. When the petition is filed, the case is immediately referred to a Register, who examines the petition and schedules annexed thereto, and if they are correct in form, makes a certificate to that effect, to be filed with the Clerk, then adjudges the debtor a Bankrupt and issues a warrant to the messenger to summon all the creditors named in the petitioner's schedules to meet at the Register's office, at a certain time and place, to prove their claims and elect one or more Assignees to take charge of the Bankrupt's estate.

6. A creditor can, however, prove his claim at any time previous to the last dividend, which will generally be six months subsequent to the adjudication of Bankruptcy.

7. No creditor has any standing in a Bankrupt Court until he proves his claim.

8. Creditors have no right to compel the Bankrupt to answer questions concerning the disposal of property by him acquired subsequent to filing a petition in Bankruptcy. "In other words, the date of the filing of the petition by or against a debtor, is the date at which, if adjudication of bankruptcy follows, the old order of things passes away and a new leaf is turned over." On this point decisions have been variant. The safe rule appears to be, that the applicant in Bankruptcy has a perfect right to claim whatever he has made after his application, by his personal exertions, but any profits he may have made from investment of stocks, may be liable to the claim of the receiver up to almost the period of his discharge.

9. The Bankrupt can apply to the Court at any time after the expiration of six months, and within one year from the adjudication, for the discharge in bankruptcy, and in case no assets come into the hands of the assignee, or no debts be proved against his estate, at any time after the expiration of sixty days.

10. As soon as an Assignee is elected or appointed, the Judge or Register will convey to him, by deed of assignment, all the bankrupt's property except what is exempted, viz: Household and kitchen furniture and other necessaries not exceeding in value $500; five hundred dollars also his wearing apparel and that of his wife and children, and such other property not included in the foregoing as is exempt from levy and sale upon execution or other process by the laws of the State in which the bankrupt resides, to an amount not exceeding that allowed by state exemption laws in force in 1864. A sale 'Commissior suggests, under this head, that the common impression that persons may become bankrupts and yet be allowed to retain their houses and lands, or other property of considerable value, is a great mistake. Under the Act, no honest Bankrupts in this State can have allotted to him, free from the operation of the Act, exceeding $700, besides the wearing apparel of himself and family. Bankrupts in this State are not entitled to homesteads under this Act.

11. It is the duty of the assignee, within twenty days after the assignment to him is made, to allot the bankrupt such articles as are exempted, and file an inventory of the same with the value of each article so allotted, and creditors may make objections to the report of the Assignee at any time within twenty days after it is filed.

12. As to cases in bankruptcy proceedings, section 46 of the Bankrupt Act provides that the petitioner, before a warrant issues, shall deposit fifty dollars with the Register, or with the Clerk, to be delivered to the Register as a security for his fees. General order XXII. provides that the fees of the Register, Marshal and Clerk shall be prepaid or secured before they can be compelled to act. It is also provided by General order XXX. that where the debtor has no means, and can prove the fact to the satisfaction of the Court, upon application, an order will be made requiring as the costs in the case to be paid out of the fifty dollars deposited with the Register. If, however, there are assets, but not enough to pay the Messenger after deducting the Bankrupt's exempted property, so that nothing comes into the hands of the Assignee, the fees will have to be paid by the bankrupt; but if the Assignee receives assets, the fees of the Messenger will be paid by him before any dividend is made among creditors.

13. Some suppose that the Register is entitled to $50 fee. The fees of the Register, Messenger, Clerk, and costs of publication of notices in Bankruptcy, are fixed by law, and if they demand higher fees, they are liable, as in other cases of malfeasance in office. In ordinary cases of Bankruptcy, the fees may amount to $100. In some cases more, in some less—the costs depending on the amount of labor and obligation involved in each case.

14. Differences of opinion among Attorneys have existed in this state, as to the limit which the Act makes as to the time to make application in Bankruptcy. Some have supposed that no debtor will be permitted to apply for Bankruptcy after some early day in March, unless he is able to pay fifty per cent of his debts. We are assured that this is not the case. The law did not go into operation for the purposes for which it was enacted until June 1st, 1867. It gives twelve months from that time, to all honest debtors, whatever may be the extent of their indebtedness which they cannot pay in which to present their applications. After the 1st of June next, every debtor must be able to pay fifty per cent of his indebtedness in order to a successful application in bankruptcy, unless he first obtain the consent of a majority of his creditors.

THE PRESIDENT'S ACQUITTAL.

We think that we are not premature in announcing that Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, has come out unscathed from the fiery ordeal to which partizan malice had subjected him. Though it is true that the vote has only been taken on the Eleventh Article, yet it has been generally agreed that it was the experimentum crucis, and that, if conviction did not take place on that Article, it was impossible on any. The fact that that Article was first considered, is conclusive on this point, and the further fact that old Ben Wade so far outraged common decency and delicacy, as to vote on the Article, is entirely demonstrative of the desperation and defeat of the Impeachers.

All honor to the conscientious Senators who have stepped forward to prevent the greatest crime and outrage of the age!

An abstract of the different articles of Impeachment will be found in another column.

THE JUDICIARY.

No stronger evidence of the folly and evil of electing Judges by the people need be furnished, than is afforded by the result of the late election in this State. Scarcely any portion of the new Constitution was more objectionable than that which pertains to the changes in our Judiciary and Court system, and we should not be surprised if the experience of a year or two only will be enough to excite a general clamor against it and a proposition to amend the Constitution in several particulars.

It is deeply to be regretted that even the venom of the Radicals could not be satiated, but by an onslaught upon the temples of Law and Justice. As a matter of sheer policy, one would have thought that, when the material suited to the Bench could not be found in the Radical ranks, men of purity and capacity for that position would have been selected wherever they could be found. But the sequel shows that partizan greed for office could not leave uncontaminated even the halls of Justice.

If there is anything, of which North Carolina can be proud, in her past history, it is the purity and capacity of her Judiciary and the strict justice which her Courts have been ready to administer to all persons.—We most deeply regret that that history is to be henceforth blurred by the incapacity of a Judiciary, palmed off upon the people by the election of a general ticket under the exciting furor of "getting back into the Union."

We express no personal dislike to any of the Judges elect, when we say, that the ruthless hand of the Jacobin spirit has left only a remnant of the old Judiciary, in the new selection. The Supreme Court Bench, with an addition of two members, has seriously lost, rather than increased its reputation. The falling off on the Superior Court Bench is a source of sincere regret and mortification to every good citizen.—Eight members of that Bench, at least, would do themselves and the Radical party credit, if they would resign, and give place to gentlemen qualified for the position, who would not be required to make party pledges. Remaining on the Bench, they can only add to their own mortification and injury, and destroy all confidence among the people in seeking justice and right through such a medium. The best advice we could give them would be to resign at once, in order that they might lay some claim to positions they are more competent to fill.

THE UNSTINTED AND COARSE ABUSE which is being heaped by the more unscrupulous portion of the Radical press and leaders, upon those conscientious and upright Senators, who have refused to perjure themselves at the mere bidding of party, in the matter of Impeachment, is full of significance. It demonstrates, more unmistakably than anything else could have done, the animus of the Radical faction,—its shamelessness, its disregard of moral obligations, its vindictiveness, its purpose to subordinate all the considerations of truth, fairness and justice to the claims of a miserable party necessity, and its disposition to employ the basest means to effectuate party and personal ends.

No such party as this same ultra-Radical party has ever existed before, exactly, perhaps, in any country. It has its nearest parallel in the Jacobin organization of the French Revolution. It claimed, as this Radical party claims, to be a party of "moral ideas," and it perpetrated, as this Radical party is constantly perpetrating, the most atrocious and debasing outrages in the name of Liberty and Morality. The French Radicals will be more excusable, in the eye of History, for the reason that they fought, though in a misguided and frenzied manner, many serious evils, while modern Radicalism wages a crusade against all that is good or venerable in government, against the Constitution of the country and against all the virtuous usages of the past. Corrupt in its inception, it has become more and more unprincipled and venal, with each successful innovation which it has accomplished, until it stands, to-day, a monster of organized depravity and wickedness.

We hail this vituperation of the honest, conscientious and wise men who have heretofore allowed themselves to act with the party, as a healthy omen. It argues that such men are becoming disgusted with their past associations, while it discloses, as we have remarked, the real spirit of the party. The time has not yet come, even in this demoralized age, when honesty, fidelity to obligations and virtuous intelligence can be "whistled down the winds" so easily. The present shining victims of Radical obloquy constitute the brains and worth of the party, and any course which shall array them against the more violent and unscrupulous leaders of Radicalism must tell upon popular sentiment. It is the herald of the disintegration of Radicalism,—the first real, substantial promise that we have seen of a consummation so desirable for the country, and so essential to peace, prosperity and the preservation of Republican institutions.

The time will come, and that at no remote day, when many men, who are now prominent in the party, will seek to obliterate, if possible, their connection with it. The day will come, and that soon, when the converts to Radicalism, in the South, especially,—those creatures who have belied their former professions for mean and mercenary purposes,—will seek every avenue of escape from their perfidy, and deny that their Radicalism was real,—will claim that it was only for the purpose of "getting back," perhaps, or something of that sort. We have similar instances now, where newly born Radicals, who were once blatant Secessionists, deny that they ever taught or thought secession!

THE ARTICLES OF IMPEACHMENT.

Article I. That the President issued an order to remove Secretary Stanton, with intent to violate the Tenure-of-office act.

Article II. That he by letter authorized Lorenzo Thomas to act as Secretary of War ad interim, when there was no vacancy in that office, with intent to violate the same act.

Article III. That he so authorized Thomas to act as Secretary, with the intent to violate the Constitution of the United States.

Article IV. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas and others, by intimidations and threats, to hinder Mr. Stanton from holding his office as Secretary of War, thus violating the Constitution and the conspiracy act, of July 31st., 1861, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article V. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas, and other persons unknown, to prevent the execution of the Tenure-of Office act; and, in pursuance of this conspiracy, attempted to prevent Mr. Stanton from holding his office of Secretary of War, thus committing a high misdemeanor in office.

Article VI. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, contrary to the conspiracy act, and with intent to violate the Tenure-of-Office act, thus committing a high crime in office.

Article VII. That he conspired with Lorenzo Thomas to seize by force the War Department, with intent to violate the Tenure-of-Office act; thus committing a high misdemeanor in office

Article VIII. That he delivered to Lorenzo Thomas a letter of authority to act as Secretary of War ad interim, with intent unlawfully to control the military appropriations, in violation of the Constitution and of the Tenure-of Office act; and so committing a high misdemeanor in office.

Article IX. That on February 22d. last he instructed Major General Emory that that part of the Appropriation act of March 2, 1867, which provides that all orders of the President and War Department relating to military operations shall be issued through the General of the army, was unconstitutional, and tried to induce Emory to violate it, by receiving orders direct from the President; with the futher intent to prevent the execution of the Tenure-of Office act, and to prevent Mr. Stanton from holding the office of Secretary of War.

Article X. That he delivered inflammatory and scandalous harangues, at various times, to bring contempt upon Congress.—In this charge, specification first quotes a speech at Washington, August 18th, 1866; about a body "hanging on the verge of the Government."

Specification second: The Cleveland speech of September 3d, 1866.—"Your Congress that is trying to break up the Gov' ernment," etc.

Specification third: The St. Louis speech of September 8, 1866.—"If I have played the Judas, who has been my Christ that I have played the Judas with? Was it Thad. Stevens? Was it Wendell Phillips?" &c.

These speeches are charged as a high misdemeanor in office.

Article XI. That he declared in a public speech in Washington, August 18, 1866, that the Thirty-ninth Congress was not a constitutional Congress of the United States, but a Congress of part of the States; thus denying the validity of their legislation, except so far as he chose to approve it; and in pursuance of this declaration, attempted to prevent the execution of the Tenure of-Office act, by unlawfully contriving means of preventing Edwin M. Stanton from resuming the office of Secretary of War, when the Senate had refused to concur in his suspension; and, also, attempted to prevent the execution of the Appropriation act of March 2, 1867, (as in article 9;) and, also, of the act of March 2, 1867, "for the more efficient government of the rebel States;" thus committing a high misdemeanor in office.

A POLITICIAN'S PROGRAMME.—A model politician writes to a Western paper: "A law ought to be passed compelling all railroads to build fences on either side of their tracks, or else compelling those who own abutting lands to build the fences. You see I am a politician, and want the squire's office in our township—not exactly that either; I want the office of the squire. I mean that I want to be squire; and when I get to be squire, if I do, I tell you confidentially I don't care much whether the fences be built or not, because no cattle are worth over $300, and consequently all the suits must be brought before me." These are convincing arguments.

MISSISSIPPI DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.—The Democratic Convention in Jackson, Mississippi, nominated B. G. Humphrey, the present incumbent, for Governor by acclamation. Kimbark Falconer was nominated for Lieutenant Governor, C. E. Hooker, for Attorney General, and C. K. Marshall for Superintendent of Immigration. Harmony prevailed and the utmost enthusiasm was manifest. No business of importance was transacted in the Constitutional Convention.

NEW ENGLAND KU KLUXES.—The Ku Kluxes have evidently invaded that godly country known as New England. It is said that Mr. Fessenden has received hundreds of letters, most of them from New England, urging him to vote for the conviction of the President. Some of them threaten him with assassination if he votes for acquittal. Why does not Forney call for a military force to be sent to New England to put down the Ku Kluxes!—Richmond Whig.

A cotemporary says: "It seems to us that the black folks do all the voting in the Radical party and the carpet-bag men get all the offices."

For the Sentinel.

DRIED FRUIT.

Within the last few years this business has increased until it has become, in many sections, a leading branch of trade, and has been found to be very profitable. The high tax imposed upon distillation of fruit has had a tendency to increase this business.—Again, the work is easy—the greater part of it being done by women and children.

Since this is comparatively a new business in many sections, and one that should be increased, we propose giving a few practical suggestions as to the best plan of drying, packing, shipping, etc. We begin with PEELED PEACHES.—To make these the most saleable, the fruit should be taken from the trees before it becomes perfectly ripe and mellow—just as soon as they begin to "blush,"—unless this is done they will dry dark in color, which is the great objection, and leaves them always without a quotable price. They should be sliced as fine as a little care and attention will allow. Quarters are considered a large size for peeled peaches, and consequently not as saleable as if sliced finer.

UNPEELED PEACHES should also be selected from fruit not too ripe on the trees. They should be cut into halves only, as quarters and mixed never bring as good a price, while they are really more trouble to prepare. It is always best to select the largest peaches for good "unpeeled halves."

DRIED APPLES.—Select sound fruit, not too ripe. Be careful to pare them clean.—Let there be no specks of the skin on any part, and above all, be sure that they are well cored. Dried apples coming to market with specks of skin, cores and seed still on, never meet ready sale at market price. "Sliced" apples always pay for the additional trouble; but where this is not done, let the above, as to cleanliness, be observed. This done, and dried of a bright color, they will always sell readily for a good price.

DRIED CHERRIES, with seeds in, always sell. They should be carefully picked when ripe, thoroughly dried, and kept as clean as possible. "Seedless" cherries belong to the most fancy of domestic dried fruit, and always find a ready market at good prices. They require to be carefully dried without being burned, and packed in their natural state. If mixed with molasses or "doctored" in any way, it is detected at once, and have to be sold at very reduced prices.

DRIED PLUMS should be handled in the same manner as cherries.

DRIED BLACKBERRIES have recently become quite a staple, and in many sections the best paying crop that grows. When ripe they should be nicely dried (not burned) before packing. If packed before thoroughly dried they breed worms, become mouldy, and lead to general dissatisfaction.

DRIED RASPBERRIES alway bring a better price than blackberries, and should be handled the same way.

ELDERBERRIES are not worth the trouble of drying and shipping.

QUINCES AND PEARS, cut fine, thoroughly peeled and cored nice, bring fair prices.

The above, we think, affords the main ideas as to curing the different fruits. We now come to a most important instruction for shippers, packers and buyers, which is the grading and packing of the different descriptions.

Never mix different qualities in the same package, as it is always discovered, and the price will be based upon the poorest quality in the barrel or bag. Barrels are much preferable to bags for shipping. Let there be a distinguishing mark upon each package of the different grades. Let all barrels be carefully and correctly tared, with each tare marked on side of barrel, as well as on the head. If the above directions are closely followed, the fruit will class with the best grades; and the increase in price over poor, mixed and carelessly packed fruit will amply pay for the extra trouble. This applies to almost everything that is sent to market. It matters not how dull an article may be, when of good quality and in good order, it will not fail to bring highest market prices. Then remember this, and pack all goods in neat order; mark plain directions on every package, with name of article, weight, tare or count, and forward invoice of what, how, and when shipments are made.

We beg to state that we shall endeavor to make a speciality of selling all kinds of dried fruit during the coming season, and claim that our advantages are equal to any other market; but if desired we will ship to Liverpool, London, or elsewhere.

We will furnish, at manufacturers' prices, any or all of the latest and best improved peelers.

All letters of inquiry will be promptly answered, and the best possible information furnished.

DIVERSIFYING OUR PRODUCTIONS.—In his speech at Norfolk, Mr. Everitt is reported by the Journal as saying:

"The cultivation of cotton he did not wish to lessen, it being an article of too much importance to the world; but he did wish to direct the attention of those engaged in agriculture to other crops which might be grown in connection with cotton, and on lands which were not capable of producing that staple.

He first mentioned hops, which he found to be indigenous all over the South, and capable of being largely produced, with little or no labor. Their consumption is daily increasing in the world, and the demand for them is so great that many chemical substitutes have now to be introduced in their place; and they are so valuable in Europe as to be sold there by the ounce.

He then referred to the Castor Bean, an article of easy production all over the South, and one which commands a fabulous price in all marts of trade.

He lastly mentioned the grape, and in particular the Scuppernong, as a product of the soil from which more profit was to be derived than from almost any other in his knowledge. He said that while in Mobile he had the opportunity of judging of the merits of the wine made from the Scuppernong grape, and, in his opinion, it is far preferable, as a light wine, to that of any other grape in the world. It has the body, without which no good light wine can be made. And he thought that the day would come when the wine produced in the South would supplant the vile compounds imported under the name of wines from Europe, many of which never saw a grape, and supply the demand, not only of the New, but of the Old World."

SHOCKING OCCURRENCE.—A maniac a few days since entered a house in Albany, Maine, and when ordered to leave seized a piece of iron and threw it at a child, striking it on the head and fracturing its skull, and then seized another child, who was sick and lying on the bed, and dashed it against the wall. After a struggle the madman was secured and sent to jail.

Old Ben Wade should be employed by the Lecture Association to deliver lectures on cursing and swearing—with illustrations.—Prentice.

A charity scholar, under examination in the Psalms, being asked, "What is the pestilence that walketh in darkness?" replied, "Please, sir, bed-bugs!"

SOUTHERN MINERALS.

When the difficulties of the present time shall have subsided sufficiently to remove the present objections against settlement in the Southern States, the rush of immigrants towards the mineral regions in that section will quickly develope immense wealth in the mountainous regions extending from Maryland to Alabama. An excellent judge of such matters—an old personal friend, who had made his arrangements for settling in the mountainous regions of North Carolina, but who is now no more on earth—remarked that, were the mineral wealth of that region fully understood, the rush for Idaho and California and other rich regions of the West would soon be equalled by the emigration to the Southern highlands.

What is true of North Carolina is perhaps equally applicable to all the States through which the Alleghany Range extends, between the Potomac and the Mexican Gulf. Auriferous deposits are not the only treasures of the Southern mountains. Metals of several kinds are found in great abundance. As a single specimen of the facts on this point, we may refer to what is said about the rich deposits of copper ore in Polk county, one of the most mountainous parts of East Tennessee. "Where the boundary lines of Tennessee, Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina approach each others," it is stated, "there the spiral back rocks of several ranges of mountains and high ridges also converge; and this vicinity is rationally supposed to comprise a great metallic field, of which the copper mines opened at Ducktown are but the out-cropping. The mines, as far as opened, are scattered over a plateau of five or six miles extent, and elevated 1,500 feet above the sea. One of these mines, it is added, yielded over one million of pounds of refined copper last year."

With salubrious climate and convenient access to markets by rail or water, nothing but a restoration of harmony is wanting to secure such a development of prosperity among the Southern highlands as the world has never yet witnessed in any other mountain region—an improvement that will in reasonable time render those hitherto unimproved regions as remarkable for prosperity as ever were the lowlands to which the Southern planters hitherto chiefly devoted their attention.

Every well-wisher of the country, whatever may be his partizan feelings, should cordially co-operate in turning attention to those matters; and our Southern friends may rest assured that no progress can be made in the development of Southern resources, which will not be hailed with great satisfaction by the great mass of their fellow-citizens in other sections of the Union. —Nat. Examiner.

Gen. John A. Logan, Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, has issued a general order, designating Sunday, May 30th., as the day for "strewing with flowers or otherwise decorating the graves of deceased comrades."

The following epitaph may be seen in the cemetery of a parish in the environs of Paris: "Here lies Madame N——, wife of M. N——, master blacksmith. The railing around this tomb was manufactured by her husband."

Twenty-seven Republicans and five Democrats have thus far been elected to Congress from the reconstructed States.

MARRIED,

At Warrenton, N. C., on the 7th inst., by Rev. Mr. Marshall, Capt Jno. E. Dugger and Miss Nannie E. Wilson, all of that place.

DIED:

On the 30th of April, 1868, at the residence of Dr. R. K. Smith, near Haywood, in Chatham County, Mrs. E. A. Southerland exchanged a life of pain, exhaustion and long confinement, for one of rest, new life and the glorious liberty of the children of God. She had been for seven years prostrated by chronic rheumatism, and was a most telling example of cheerfulness, patience and Christian resignation, fully illustrating God's comforting assurance, "My grace is sufficient for thee." She had just lived out her three score years and ten, and during the most of that time was a consistent member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was a bright and devoted Christian. Let not her many relatives and friends mourn over her death, as their temporary loss is her eternal gain, and may be theirs also, if they will but imitate her faith, charity, good works and patience. MONDAY, MAY 18, 1868

OUR FRIENDS IN THE VARIOUS COUNTIES of the State are requested to send, at once, to R. C. Badger, Secretary of the State Conservative Executive Committee, the names of all gentlemen in the State elected to office, legislative or local, in the recent elections, who are barred by Art. XIV, commonly known as the Howard amendment, or who are otherwise under disabilities. It is also requested that the reasons of their disabilities shall be stated. Prompt and immediate attention to this matter is most desirable.

THE METHODIST SABBATH SCHOOL CELEBRATION.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—We had the pleasure of attending the Pic-Nic given by the M. E. Sunday School, on Tuesday, and can truly say that we were highly gratified.

Soon after we arrived at the grove, Mr. W. J. Young called the school to order, when we were charmed by a spirited rendering of that sweet song, the "Golden Rule," by the children. It was a lovely sight—the beautiful, neatly-clad children, and the happy faces of parents and teachers, and the grand old grove, fit temple for such scenes. Then Mr. Young, in an appropriate manner, introduced to the audience Moses A. Bledsoe, Esq., who gave us a charming address, the subject of which was "Searching for Happiness." The speaker was very impressive and handled his subject in a masterly manner, and his audience were delighted with his effort.

"Beautiful River" was then beautifully sung, and "forward march!" to dinner was the magic order to the children's ears.—Then what a scene! Great loaves of cake, oceans of lemonade, a profusion of candies, and, indeed, the greatest abundance of everything to please the palate and charm the taste. The children were well attended to, and the teachers took good care that they should lack for nothing.

Taking the affair altogether, it was a complete success—thus proving what an easy matter it is to make children happy. We regretted very much that you were absent, knowing how well you would have enjoyed the feast of good things and the "flow of soul." W.

COL. J. V. BOMFORD.—This excellent and accomplished officer, our late Post Commandant, left this City, for Charleston, on Saturday afternoon. His family will go North. Col B departs with the best wishes of this community, and a number of gentlemen were assembled at the Depot to bid him a respectful farewell. He has administered his delicate duties fairly, courteously and impartially, and has always entertained and expressed the kindest consideration for our people. We have reason to know that Col. Bomford is most gratefully impressed with the many exhibitions of popular esteem which his removal has elicited. No political feeling, whatever, has prompted these exhibitions, for Col. Bomford, as an officer of the Army, is not known as a politician or partizan.

We learn that Bvt. Maj. Linn, of the 6th. Infantry, is in temporary command of the Post, and that Col. Clitz is expected to assume the regular command in a few days.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE.—Bear in mind that the sale of valuable real estate in the town of Graham, by A. T. Jerkins, Esq., Administrator of Dr. S. E. Chapman, deceased, will take place on Tuesday next, the 19th. instant. This offers a fine opportunity for investment.

WASHINGTON COLLEGE, VIRGINIA.—Our thanks are hereby tendered to our young friend G. B. Baker, of Baltimore, of the Committee, for an invitation to the Commencement Ball of Washington College, Lexington, Va., to be given on Wednesday, June 17th.

PARTIZAN MISCHIEF.—Some days ago, for good and sufficient reasons, we learn, four white men, employed to perform certain labor at the County Work-House, were discharged. Subsequently, these men made affidavit, before a Justice of the Peace, that they had been discharged by Mr. Perry, the Superintendent, because they voted the Republican ticket, at the late election. The matter was made the subject of investigation before the military, on Friday, and was finally referred to the Commissioners of the Work House for settlement. We learn that the alleged charge is wholly false. Indeed, we hear that it is stated that one or more of the complainants voted the Conservative ticket! Thus we go.

ELI BANNER, a freedman, was killed by lightning in Forsyth County, one day last week. He is the same negro, who, recently, married Emma Brindle an abandoned white woman.

THOMAS WALLACE, ESQ., a prominent citizen of Petersburg, Va., died on Friday last.

STATE ITEMS.

The Goldsboro' market is well supplied with strawberries. We observe that a son of the Hon. W. T. Dortch shipped 300 quarts to New York, a few days ago. If all our young men would exhibit equal energy, we should have very little cause to complain of hard times. Work! work! boys, is what the country needs.

Wayne County jail has twelve prisoners—one white and eleven negroes. This is about the ratio all over the South.

The Northwestern Railroad, chartered by the late Convention, beginning at some point on the N. C. Railroad, and running via Salem, through our Northwest Counties, it is thought will start at Greensboro', because the citizens of that place have made a more liberal offer than those of High Point.

The ladies of Winston, Forsyth County, observed the memorial ceremonies, at the Cemetery, on the 10th inst.

Griffith J. McRee, Esq., of Wilmington, delivered a highly interesting lecture before the Library Association, last week. His subject was the 'Literature of Wilmington in the Past."

An appeal is being made to the citizens of the State, by the students of Trinity College, for donations of books to the Theological Society at that Institution.

The Synod of the Southern Province of the Moravian Church met in Salem, on Monday last,—Rt. Rev. G. F. Bahnson, President. The various matters discussed before the Synod were conducted in harmony and good feeling.

The Charlotte papers speak in terms of high praise of Dr. W. Gilmore Simms' lecture at Mecklenburg Female College, on Thursday evening. The Times says that "he spoke for about one hour and a half, in a strain of classic eloquence and beauty, such as was never heard in the City before."

Rev. Robt. De Schweinitz, the former popular Principal of the Salem Academy, is now on a visit to that place.

The "Local" of the Charlotte Times, who complained, a few days ago, of the excessive dullness of the times in that city, was highly elated by the statement of a sensationist on the street, that the city was "full of wagons." "There are forty or fifty wagons on Tryon Street!" and forthwith, at a rapid pace, he went to see for himself, when his expectation was suddenly cooled down, at only seeing eight wagons. Upon which he administers a sound lecture to persons who are guilty of exaggeration. Rather green, neighbor, just to have found that out.

ANOTHER NATIONAL BANK.—We observe by the Washington correspondence of the New York Herald, that the Carolina National Bank, of Columbia, S. C., has been authorized, on depositing securities for circulation with the United States Treasurer, to the amount of $34,000. This Bank, we learn, is to be officered by W. R. Gulick, Esq., the present efficient Cashier, and Capt. C. J. Iredell, the polite and accommodating Teller, of the National Bank in this City.—The position of Cashier here has been tendered, we learn, to that veteran financier and worthy gentleman, Charles Dewey, Esq., and that of Teller to Mr. Jno. Blake, the present energetic Money-Clerk of the Southern Express Co.

THE FUTURE OF THE NEGROES.

"Henry Clay, Daniel Webster, John Randolph, Richard Lee, and a number of other prominent public men, met at a hotel in Washington in 1817, and organized the American Colonization Society. The Republic of Liberia is a noble and lasting monument of the success of the enterprise, which, against great opposition, has lived for more than half a century. From the annual report read at the anniversary last evening, we learn that 1,300 emigrants have been conveyed to the coast of Africa during the past year; $60,000 expended in establishing a professorship, and $10,000 added to the funds of the Society."—New York Tribune.

This society, organized under the auspices of the greatest American statesmen, and thus commended by the New York Tribune, is, strange to say, at the very moment when many propitious circumstances conspire to render it successful, assailed with bitterness by most of the Radical newspapers. There are thousands of negroes who anxiously desire to go to the land of their fathers and aid in establishing a civilized African empire, and reclaiming the numerous savage tribes from barbarism. The more thoughtful negroes are convinced that their newly acquired freedom and suffrage can never lift them to an equality with the whites.—They feel, and ever will feel, that theirs is an inferior race, and must go down in any contest between them and that other race whose destiny it is to dominate over all the races of men. Such a contest, they perceive, is unavoidable. The whites will claim and compel their own precedence in everything—in the Government, in social life and in all industries and occupations. Every year will swell their numbers and increase their predominance. Whether they be native Americans, Englishmen, Irishmen, Scotchmen or Germans; whether they be New Englanders or Southern men, they will all alike claim and compel this predominance. As their numbers and power increase, the number and strength of the negroes will decrease. Every succeeding year the disparity will become more striking. However the present temporary and unnatural condition of political affairs may flatter the pride and encourage the hopes of the negroes, it is but the hectic flush that presages their speedy downfall. There is no future for them in American. Their only hope is in a removal to Liberia or to some other country where they will be free from white competition and where they can have their own Government. Those who oppose this project are their worst enemies.—Richmond Whig.

"The Independent lately read Judge Chase out of the Republican party; the Tribune now turns out Trumbull, Grimes, Fessenden and Henderson. The time has been, that when the brains were out the man would die, and there an end.'"

Gov. Brown is to be Chief Justice; Parrott and Blodgett, United States Senators from Georgia.

Thad Stevens is artistically kept up by small and frequent doses of stewed terrapin and old port.

THE IMPEACHMENT!

The President Acquitted on the Eleventh Article!!

TRIUMPH OF RIGHT AND JUSTICE!

WASHINGTON, May 16, M.

The Court met this morning, and, on motion of Senator Williams, it was decided, by a vote of 34 to 19, to vote on the Eleventh Article first.—Messrs. Ross and Willey voting with those in favor of acquittal.

Wade voted in the affirmative. This vote is considered conclusive of acquittal, as it shows a strength of only 34 for conviction.

LATER.

The vote on the Eleventh Article stood 35 to 19. Messrs. Fowler, Fessenden, Grimes, Henderson, Van Winkle, Trumbull and Ross voting "Not Guilty."

After the Chief Justice had declared the President acquitted on the article, a motion to adjourn to the 26th. inst. was declared out of order. An appeal was sustained, when Henderson moved to adjourn to July. This vote is pending.—Adjournment probable.

LATER STILL.

The Court has adjourned to the 26th. instant. Wade voted throughout the day.

PARDON OF THE ALABAMA PRISONERS.

Our Midnight Dispatches.

FROM WASHINGTON—CONGRESS AND IMPEACHMENT.

WASHINGTON, May 16, P. M.

SENATE.—Judiciary Committee reported, without amendment, the House bill admitting Arkansas. It lies over.

The Omnibus admission bill from the House was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

The Court opened at 12 o'clock. All of the Senators were present.

The Republican Senators voting against the calling of the Eleventh Article first, were Messrs. Fessenden, Fowler, Henderson, Ross, Trumbull, Van Winkle and Willey.

On this question Wade voted, for the first time during the trial.

Judge Chase, after admonishing the people to quietness, ordered the Clerk to read the Eleventh Article.

Judge Chase then stated that the Senate was now in process of carrying out the order to proceed to vote upon the articles of impeachment, and no motion was now in order, while that was pending.

Mr. Conness appealed, and the appeal was sustained—30 to 24.

Then, by a vote of 31 to 21, the Court adjourned to the 26th.

Wade resumed the chair, and after a long debate, a joint resolution, adjourning to the 26th., was negatived, and the Senate adjourned as usual.

HOUSE.—The House refused to entertain a resolution appointing a Committee of Enquiry, on the conduct of the Missouri delegation—28 to 82.

Private bills were resumed.

When the questions were propounded in the terms agreed upon, those voting not guilty were Bayard, Buckalew, Davis, Dixon, Doolittle, Fessenden, Fowler, Grimes, Henderson, Hendricks, Johnson, McEnery, Norton, Patterson of Tennessee, Ross, Saulsbury, Trumbull, Van Winkle and Vickers—19.

Mr. Williams moved a fifteen minutes' recess. Negatived.

He then moved an adjournment to the 26th.

Mr. Johnson suggested the announcement of the vote.

Judge Chase said that he would not announce the vote until that on all the articles were taken, unless the Senate ordered otherwise.

Drake raised the point that nothing was in order, pending the motion to adjourn.

Mr. Henderson said that the motion to adjourn was not in order, while the call of the roll was pending.

Judge Chase sustained the last point, and directed the Secretary to read the roll; which, being read, the Chief Justice stated that there were 35 votes for guilty and 19 for not guilty, and that the President was, therefore, acquitted on the eleventh Article.

A Resolution that, for the further and more efficient prosecution of the impeachment of the President the Managers be directed and instructed to summon and examine witnesses, under oath, to send for persons and papers, to employ a stenographer, and to appoint a sub-committee to take testimony, (the expense thereof to be paid from the contingent fund of the House) was adopted, and the House adjourned to Monday.

Ex-President Buchanan has been quite ill of pleuro-pneumonia, but he was better at last accounts.

The South is now afflicted with the plague of "low cusses" in the form of carpet bag men.

A SHARP REMARK.—The New York Evening Post, a Radical journal, quietly remarks:

STRAYED OR STOLEN.

On or about the 8th inst., one middling star, light or pale red OX, about 5 years old, with horns rather small and wide apart; with a white spot in the forehead; right hind leg white nearly to the knee and the left white to and little above the ankle, and with some other little marks of white on the flank.

I will pay a liberal reward for his recovery or for any information that will lead thereto.

DAILY SENTINEL.

MONDAY, MAY 18, 1868.

THE SHADOW ON THE WALL.

My home a stately dwelling is
With lofty arching doors;
There is carving on the ceilings high,
And velvet on the floors;
A rich and costly building,
Where noiseless servants wait,
And 'neath the escutcheon's gilding
None enter but the great;
But a happier home is near in a humble cottage small,
And I envy its sweet mistress the shadows on her wall.

My pictures are the pride of Art,
And drawn by cunning hands;
But the painted figures never move,
Nor change the painted lands;
Before the poorest window
More gorgeous pageants glide,
Within the lowliest household
More lifelike groups abide;
And I turn from soulless symbols, that crowd my gloomy hall,
To watch the shifting shadows upon the cottage wall.

My stately husband never bends
To kiss me on the lips;
His heart is in his iron safe,
His thoughts are with his ships;
But when the twilight gathers
Adown the dusky street,
The little housewife listens
For sounds of coming feet;
And by the gleaming firelight I see a figure tall
Bend down to kiss a shadow, a shadow on the wall.

My garden palings, broad and high,
Shut in its costly spoils,
And through the ordered paths all day
The silent gardener toils;
My neighbor's in a grass pit,
With hardy buttercup
Where children's dimpled fingers
Pull dandelions up;
Where on a baby's silken head all day the sunbeams fall,
Till evening throws its shadows upon the cottage wall.

My petted lap-dog warm and soft,
Nestles upon my knee;
My birds have shut their diamond eyes
That love to look for me;
Lonely I watch my neighbor,
And watching can but weep,
To see her rock her darlings
Upon her breast asleep.
Alas! my doves are gentle, my dog comes at my call,
But there's no childish shadow upon my chamber wall.

My beauty is the talk of fools,
And by the gas light's glare,
In glittering dress and gleaming gems,
I know that I am fair;
But there is something fairer,
Whose charm in loving lies;
And there is something dearer,
The light of happy eyes.
So I return triumphant queen of the brilliant ball,
To envy the sweet shadow of the housewife on the wall.

My earthly lot is rich and high,
And hers is poor and low;
Yet I would give my heritage
Her deeper joys to know:
For husbands that are lovers
Are rare in all the lands,
And hearts grow fit for Heaven,
Moulded by childish hands;
And while I go up lonely before the Judge of all,
A cherub troop will usher the shadow on the wall.

LONG FACES.—What a sad mistake it is to suppose that a man should be gloomy because he is devout; as if misery were acceptable to God on its own account, and happiness an offence against his dignity.—A modern writer of much wisdom and pith of writing says:

"There is a secret of unbelief amongst some men that God is displeased with men's happiness, and so they slink about creation, ashamed and afraid to enjoy anything!"

These are the people of whom Hood says: "They think they're pious when they're only bilious!"

A good man is almost always a cheerful one. It is fit that bad men scowl, look blue and melancholy, but he who has God's smile of approbation upon him should show its radiance in his countenance. Dr. Johnson said "he never knew a villain in his life that was not, on the whole, an unhappy dog." And well he may be. And an honest man—the man with a good conscience—let him enjoy his sleep, and his dinner, and the love of his wife, and the prattle of his children, and show a beaming face to his neighbor.—Surely there is no worse theology than that which teaches that He who has given such fullness of joy to beast and birds, delights in the misery of men; or, that having been filled with gladness, we ought to give the lie to His goodness by wearing faces becloudded with woe, and furrowed by pretended unhappiness.

A LOW-COMEDY MULE.—In the spectacular performance of Humpty Dumpty, now running at the Olympic, a small mule is introduced, and is made to appear quite comically, by the dexterity of his heels.

About a fortnight ago the regular animal fell ill, and an amateur was substituted. When one of the characters touched the new mule to make him kick, he began in admirable style. He kicked off the fellow, and kicked him twice before he touched the boards. Then he ran towards several of the other dramatis personæ, and kicked them. Every object on the stage, whether material or mental, he kicked off. Next he began on the scenery. He kicked down a whole forest, three good-sized cottages, a picturesque cascade, a granite prison, a robber's cave, a royal palace, the Rialto and Vesuvius in eruption, and was about to attack the "grand transmutation scene" from "Midsummer-Night's Dream," when a rope was thrown around his neck, and he was dragged off by the whole strength of the company, assisted by all the able bodied supernumeraries.

The audience, many of whom supposed the obstreperous mule part of the performance, were delighted at his energy, and demanded, with deafening plaudits, a repetition of the scene. The uproar was so great that the manager came out and said that an intermission of fifteen minutes would be given to enable some of the actors to recover the breath that d—d mule had kicked out of them, and pledged his honor that the brute should never make another appearance on the Olympic stage.

At this the audience roared louder than ever, and for nearly half an hour the performance was suspended by the universal guffaw.

Every night since, the kicking mule has been called for, and the manager of the theatre has, in consequence, inserted an advertisement in the daily papers that the animal was mysteriously knocked in the head the same night of his successful debut.—New York Correspondence of Cincinnati Enquirer.

WILD CLOVER.—Almost imperceptibly, and through some unknown agency, there has sprung up over the barren old fields in this District, within five years, a species of white clover, which promises something worthy of notice. It is a vigorous and hardy vegetation, thriving well on the poorest clay ridges, and as tenacious of existence as the famous wire grass. Cattle and hogs feed upon it with a decided relish. Its advent into this District is a mystery, the solution of which has not, to our minds, been satisfactorily given. We should not be surprised if, a few years hence, our poorest soils, clad in this sprightly verdure, did not furnish grazing for thousands of cattle, whereas they are now worthless. We would be glad to hear the views of some of our citizens who have observed the growth of this plant, in explanation of how it came among us, and its probable utility for grazing stock.—Yorkville, S. C., Enquirer.

GENERAL REMARKS.

Revenue stamps may be used indiscriminately upon any of the matters or things enumerated in Schedule B., except proprietary and playing card stamps, for which a special use has been provided.

Postage stamps cannot be used in payment of the duty chargeable on instruments.

It is the duty of the maker of an instrument to affix and cancel the stamp thereon. If he neglects to do so, the party for whom it is made may stamp it before it is used; and if used after the 30th of July, 1864, and used without a stamp, it cannot afterwards be effectually stamped. Any failure upon the part of the maker of an instrument, to appropriately stamp it, renders him liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars.

Suits are commenced in many States by other process than writ, viz: summons, warrants, publication, &c., in which case these, as the original process, severally require stamps.

Writs of scire facias are subject to stamp duty as original process.

The jurat of an affidavit, taken before a Justice of the Peace, Notary Public, or other officer duly authorized to take affidavits, is held to be a certificate, and is subject to a stamp duty of five cents, except when taken in suits of legal proceedings.

Certificates of loan in which there shall appear any printed or written evidence of an amount of money to be paid on demand or at any time designated, are subject to stamp duty as Promissory Notes.

The assignment of a mortgage is subject to the same duty as that imposed upon the original instrument; that is to say, for every sum of five hundred dollars, or any fractional part thereof, of the amount secured by the mortgage, at time of its assignment, there must be affixed a stamp or stamps, denoting a duty of five cents.

When two or more persons join in the execution of an instrument, the stamps to which this instrument is liable, under the law, may be affixed and cancelled by one of the parties.

In conveyance of real estate, the law provides that the stamp affixed must answer to the value of the estate or interest conveyed.

No stamp is required on warrant of attorney accompanying a bond or note, when such bond or note has affixed thereto the stamp or stamps denoting the duty required and whenever any bond or note is secured by mortgage, but one stamp duty is required on such papers, such stamp duty being the highest rates required for such instruments, or either of them. In such case a note or memorandum of the value or denomination of the stamp affixed should be made upon the margin or in the acknowledgment of the instrument which is not stamped.
